FREW, CAMPBELL & HART,

Wheeling, W. Va.

A Suggestion to the Pulpit. Francis Murphy, whose good work in Pittsburgh goes on with increasing force, has heretofore held his Sunday evening meetings in Library Hall. Now the churches have been opened to him, and his first Sunday night church meeting, held in the Second U. P. church, was attended by two thousand people. The ordinary seating capacity was not enough, and the aisles were filled with chairs. In I asked for his card and in the absence of the agus the held has to was conressing a "yet".

Not every preacher can be a Francis Murphy, but wherever there is a good man who finds his congregation small and unresponsive, it may be that he could employ to advantage a little of the Murphy method. It won't hurt to try.

A Hard Road to Travel.

A Philadelphia woman has made the important discovery that she ought to have been a man. Many a woman forced to make a living or starve has realized the same thing. The Philadelphia woman had a sick husband and a very young in-fant, and want stared the family in the face. She was a good accountant and tried to get employment in that line. She failed, and she attributed her failure to her sex. Then she determined to make herself over.

A cheap suit of clothes and short hair parted on the side effected the metamophosis. She was employed in a counting room at $4; gave entire satisfaction and supported the family. But the infant did not thrive on the bottle and she absented herself at a certain hour every day to at tend to the child's wants. This led to the awful discovery that a leading business house had been harboring a woman in its counting room.

Now she wants to "find a place where an honest woman can make an honest ceptably says, of course it is out of the question for her to remain there any world when you come to shake it up.

She seems to be in every way a triumph over the prejudices against American ship-yards.

Still the Secretary of the Navy wants her to display more qualities. He hopes to have her caught out under particularly disadvantageous circumstances so that he may blow a hole in the contract.

The Secretary of the Navy belongs to. party which has declared that American shipbuilding is an absurdity, and which for years has been trying to sacrifice to British interests the little that is left of that industry. Mr. Roach, the builder of the Dolphin, has done more than any forgotten the art of shipbuilding. For this he is to be punished, if the administration can find a plausible pretext. The ease of the Dolphin and the Secretary is full of live laterest. We are likely to hear more of it.

FOREIGNERS IN BERLIN.

The Troubles and Aupoyances they are Subjected to in That City. Berlin, May 30.—Leaving college in a South-German town where a foreigner was treated with a respect and considera tion due him, I found a state of affairs in the metropolis which my mind did no readily grasp, and like the blind man, had it oft repeated ere prepared with the answer: "I see clearly." A few days after moving into my new quarters I found several papers lying upon my table with or-ders to "fill them." Headed as they were with formidable titles and dire threatenings, I obeyed at once and sent them to recording my name, birth, afternoon my landlady reported in a great furner that the documents had been returned, stamped "insufficient," and the injunction to present myself in person. I resorted thither, presented my "student's card," which we all carry with us for identification and immunity from arres, to some blue coat and was subjected to a cross examination worthy of the questioning Choate. "When did you arrive in calling and intention. On the following

Berlin? Have you occupied any room save your present? What is your nationality? Born, or citizen by adoption? Your father's name and, if living, his occupation? Naturalized or citizen by birth? What is your birthplace, the year, month and day of the same? Have you been in Germany before coming to Berlin?

Germany before coming to Berlin? I Where?"
It was beginning to get alightly indiscreet, but they knew no bounds. The name of my former home was not sufficient, but the date of my arrival; the I street with number of the house and the title of my landlady, were likewise exceed, "What are your intentions in Berlin? How long do you intend studying?" and such questions, the responses to which occupied some time. Writing this valuable information verbatim in his books, he finally handed me my card and thanked me for the trouble. Rejoicing that I had not been asked as to the state of my income, which had been the case of my income, which had been the case were I not a student, and if ax levied upon the same, and the amount of dynamite manufactured in the States, I went on my way, asking playfully if Weimar would be telegraphed? Verylikely, to see if your stories correspond.

and the aisles were filled with chairs. In the church the heat was oppressive, "yet not the least signs of weariness were shown by any one."

The good people of the church didn't seem able to comprehend all this. Probably they were comparing it with the attendance at the regular Sanday evening service, the house not nearly filled, people who meant better but couldn't help it, taking cat-naps while the preacher, pious and carnest man, gave them the message.

I asked for his card and in the absence of its appearance requested him to present limited without further oeremony and be received in nightly state. What was my surprise when one of the "fatherland's stallwart protectors of the peace stalked into my room with the declaration that I should supply myself with a passport within the coming month. I replied that I had one long since, and upon his demand to produce it, directed him to the University, where he might find it among my-matriculation papers did he care to take the Showing my invaluable card as in the sand earnest man, gave them the message without anything in particular to distinguish from a thousand sermons they had heard before.

This Murphy movement is something for the preachers to consider. It will be profitable for them to inquire why it is that wherever Murphy speaks, day or night Sunday or week day, croweds flock to hear him. They know that he lacks much which superior advantages have furnished them. Why does he draw to overflowing, and how does he keep his hearers awake and stirred up, while they preach often to "a beggariy array of empty benches," to sleepy congregations, and find it necessary to nerve the faithful to their task by impressing upon them attendance at church as a sacred duty.

Murphy is always interesting, always human. He never gets above the heads of the people, and generally levels his shafts right at their hearts. He takes good aim and doesn't miss the mark. He is not only not soleunnly severe, but he bubbles over with good humor. He hopes for more from God's love for man than from the terrors of the divine law. He is not only not soleunnly severe, bat he bubbles over with good humor. He hopes for my form the terrors of the divine law. He is not only not soleunnly severe, bat he bubbles over with good humor. He hopes for more from God's love for man than from the terrors of the divine law. He for my person.

That is but an example of German thoroughness. I condern it personally as it is certainly unpleasant for the foreigner. But how manifold are its advantages! Detectiveism almost ceases to be a necessity—crime itself becomes comparatively rare—cliques and dons cannot conceal their nefariousness nor shake with impunity the hand of defiance at the mandates of the law. United Germany with her fourteen years of history has recorded mighty strides, and Bismarck and Emperor William have fulfilled the dreams of Frederic the Great. R. J. Mooney.

brrespondence of the Intelligencer.
BOULDER, COLOBADO, June 10.—While in Soulder I had the pleasure of meeting Mr Joseph Wolff, who may be remembered by some of the older residents of Wheeling, which was for some years his home. Mr. Wolff "laid the cases" on the INTEL LIGENCER when that paper was established in 1852, and was foreman of the job de-partment of the paper until 1856, when he resigned to come West, and was succeeded by Mr. John Frew. After leaving Vheeling Mr. Wolff spent four years in owa and Nebraska, coming to Colorado in 1860. After experimenting in various parts of the State he finally settled in Boulder county valley, which is un-doubtedly the "garden spot" of the Cen-tennial State, and has never had any rea-

He is the owner of sixty-nine acres of land on the outskirts of Boulder City, the county as any one of the firm which she served acys says, of course it is out of the firm for her to remain there any. This is a very queer kind of a when you come to shake it up.

Unlockie and the East can do better with his farm than can Mr. Wolff with his 69 acres. It is devoted exclusively to fruit this State. He has 5,000 grape vines, a number of apple trees, and has several acres in raspberries and strawberries. He has two picking in the county several acres in raspberries and strawberries. acres in raspherries and strawberries. He has twenty-one men at work now picking strawberries, and informs me that it will be necessary for him to have a force of fifty next week. He finds a ready market for his business in Boulder, Denver and other towns, and no wonder, for they are exceedingly large and fine, surpassing even the famous berries of Barnesville, Ohio. Mr. Wolff has just crected a hand-some brick residence, and is well fixed for taking life comfortably. He entertains a lively recollection of Wheeling, and of the early days of the INTELLIGENCER.

Belmont county, O., is represented in Besuder City by Mr. Thomas Danford, who owns a large ranch on the outskirts of the town, Mr. Hiram Danford, who is interested in mining, and Mr. Hubert Linkletter, who conducts the principal restaurant and confectionery here. They are all doing well and are more than satisfied with their Western home. Boulder City has a population of about 4,500, and, being surrounded by a rich farming and mining country, is always "chuck faill" of business. The county itself is rich in gold, silver and iron ore, and produces large quantities of oats, wheat, corn, hay, butter and lives stock. The State University of Colorado is situated in Boulder City, and is largely attended by students from all over the State.

Work on a ranch can easily be procured, the wages paid being from $20 to $25 per month and board.

Eadicott's Little Speech.

Endicott's Little Speech, Paul Piescer Press. During Secretary Endicott's recent visit to St. Paul a gentleman from Washington said that soon after Mr. Endicott's accession to office a party of prominent Washingtonians waited on him and requested him to remove one of his principal chiefs of division, at the same time naming a gentleman whom they wished to have appointed in his place. Their candidate, they urged, was a Democrat, like the Secretary himself; a true blue, thorough-going follower of the party's standard through many a bitter contest for supremacy. When Endicott had listened to their eloquent appeal, he drew himself up to his full height, and, with dignity, replied: "Gentlemen, I am not a Democrat; I am the Secretary of War."

The party retired in chagrin, and the division chief still retains his place, not yet having proved himself "an offensive partisan." During Secretary Endicott's recent visit

Sea Francisco Call.

"How hot is if in Arizona?" inquired a San Franciscan of a lady who had just arrived from that territory.

"Oh, there are a good many stories circulated about our climate," replied the lady readily. "Some of them are true and some of them are false. But I can tell you a true incident, which will give you a good idea of the heat in the territory. My son was clerking in a goodery store in Phoenix last summer, and the eggs in a box standing in the store actually hatched, without a hen being on them, or any artificial heat being applied. The hatching was the unaided work of our summer climate in Arizona."

A Lovely Complexion.

"What a lovely complexion," we often hear persons say. "I wonder what she does for it?" In every case the purity and real loveliness of the complexion depends upon the blood. Those who have sallow, blotchy faces may make their skin smooth and healthy by taking enough of Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery" to drive out the humors lurking in the system.
